

THEORY AND HAZARD PERCEPTION TRAINING

The LGV Theory Test just got harder. From 2nd April 2007 the number of questions rose from 30 to 60 and the pass mark has increased to 51 out of 60.

Take the stress out of your theory test - half day theory training at The RTITB Academy computer suite, only £58 + vat plus DSA test fee of £32.

Do you find it difficult to self-teach and revise?

The Academy offers guidance and coaching in preparation for your DSA theory and hazard perception test. The half day training will encourage and motivate you to learn and practice your examination technique prior to your actual theory and hazard perception test.

What does the course involve?

- Computer based Hazard Perception coaching
- Theoretical aspects of driving the chosen category of vehicle
- Use of interactive Highway code CD ROM
- Examination Technique practice

Before you can book your theory test you must hold a provisional licence for the category of vehicle chosen. The Academy can provide you with provisional licence forms and help you complete them if you wish. When you decide to carry out your Theory and Hazard perception test is entirely your choice. Some candidates prefer to do the test prior to any practical training and others prefer to take some practical lessons before taking their theory and hazard perception test. The Academy staff will happily advise you.

The cost of the DSA theory and hazard perception test is currently £32.00. DSA theory tests can be booked on-line at www.dsa.gov.uk or by phone on 0870 0101372 or we can arrange this for you if you prefer.
